Section 1 Introduction

You have been asked to take part in a clinical research study. For you to be able to decide to be a part of this study or not, you should understand enough about its risks and benefits to make an informed decision. This process is known as informed consent. This consent form describes the purpose, procedures, possible benefits and risks of the study. This form will also explain how your medical information will be used and who may see it. Once you have been fully informed about the study and had any questions answered, you will be asked to sign this form if you wish to take part and to allow your medical information to be collected, used and shared with certain persons involved in the study. If you do not sign this form, you will not be able to take part in the study. If you are in any other research study, you cannot take part in this study.

Your study doctor is an investigator for this study, and as an investigator, is interested both in your health and in the conduct of this study. The study doctor is being paid by AstraZeneca (the study sponsor) to conduct this study. Before entering this study or at any time during the study, you may ask for a second opinion about your care from another doctor who is in no way connected with this study. You do not have to take part in any clinical study offered by any doctor. Your decision whether or not to take part in this study will not affect the medical care you receive from your doctor.

Read this information carefully and please ask the study doctor or the study staff if you

Well darling, here goes our first "attachment" - loved talking to you earlier, but as I said, I am desperately longing to see you face to face and look into your beautiful eyes, and whisper sweet REDACTED nothings into your ear, REDACTED

REDACTED I'm going to leave in a few minutes, but just wanted to get this started- feel a bit funny doing it on the network(though I think it's pretty safe) so in future will probably write on my laptop where it will only get saved to REDACTED

Thinking of you always, loving and missing you so much- I hope you have a great day and to hear from you later?!?!?

All my love,

REDACTED

Hey, LOML,

Fabulous hearing from you again today... Am really excited about the likelihood of seeing you 5 separate times (!) in the 1st half of the yr alone... will have to get more clothes, so you don't start seeing me in the same thing over & over!

REDACTED

I get very excited just writing (and thinking!) about this stuff... will sign off before I lose concentration completely !!

All my love

My love,

Well any concentration I had left has now gone completely... REDACTED REDACTED... talking of which, my chest pain has gone away- it may have been the beginning of a virus but since I'm such a healthy, lustful creature (I'm very glad you don't seem to be attracted to the delicate, invalid, neurotic type...not nearly as much fun as REDACTED I've shaken off whatever it was. Have just had a mini drama here- copious amounts of fizzy drink have been accidentally emptied into the Playstation and the GameCube... fortunately C didn't do his nut and wasn't nearly as fretful as he usually is in such situations- I've dispatched him to bed to recover so I could get your call- sadly have missed it and don't want to call you in case you get awkward questions. Maybe we should think of a time each weekend (not necessarily the same time of course- well, duh!!! because we do different things- but some vague kind of time when we can try to make an excuse to get out for something- alternatively, this sounds very romantic, I know, but at least if we can't talk, to try and make a time where we think of each other (something along the times of a minute's silence on Nov 11 & Sept 11- tho much more cheerful than that! Knowing us, REDACTE REDACTED .hmm?) Not that I'm trying to do telepathy or anything but I always feel choked with happiness to know that we've been thinking of each other at the same time, from across the planet. I think that's what gets me the most about being separated for so long- that occasionally when the black monster turns up (usually hormonal) I somehow think you'll forget about me or lose interest- and I know you won't - but you do seem so far away, we are both so busy professionally and in our personal lives; so much can happen in such a short time, and I sometimes feel as if we won't even know each other next time we meet- although that's quite exciting in a way too, because we do know each other so well, and it's the mark of "healthy" people to move on and have lots of news, and to have changed in some way (I'm just building up to tell you about my 3 stone weight gain, double leg amputation and failed facelift). I know that when I next lay eyes on you I'll probably get quite tearful- am getting that way now, just thinking of how lovely, how giving, how wonderful you are, and how much you mean to me.
