

Unknown

From: Macfadden, Wayne
Sent: Sunday, March 06, 2005 10:13 AM
To: REDACTED
Subject: Sunday hello

Hi REDACTED

looks like an e-mail will be the best way of reaching you.....sorry REDACTED still isn't feeling well.....I know how awful it is when a kid is sick

Have had quite a busy 3d, since the France trip was given the go-ahead. Work- wise I don't think its a good idea (I'll miss numerous meetings on Mon-Wed), so I was surprised when Martin again asked me to go again on Fri, even after explaining I thought I was too busy in wilmington. Martin, the shrimp & the creampuff are meeting on Mon, in part to decide what the shrimp can expect of me this year. They're going to offer to the shrimp another medic up, a 2nd person on the SQL leadership committee. I had resisted that before, still dont think its necessary (believe I've given the shrimp everything he's asked) but apparently the shrimp needs to be clearer about what he expects from a medic. Anyway, am OK with that plan, if it gets me a better eval next year! Am still shocked by that eval, but have moved on in my head (mostly!)- will still see the shrimp in a different light now, cant say I trust him now, still wouldn't mind giving him a blow or two to the head (I guess being a bottom- feeder like other shellfish, he has had to develop duplicity to survive.....)

Had an awful last 15 hrs- entered comments to a CSR (clin study report) in our electronic on- line library, then walked away from the computer for a few hrs, to discover when I returned that all my annotations were lost - 4 hrs of work, and much creativity down the drain!!!!!!! I wanted to get that in before my flight on Sun , to pacify the nasty Swedes.....anyway, after a good cry, I re- did it all- had a diet coke to stay awake, and finished at 4AM (hence my late nite text to you.....) Its not a masterful job, but at least its something for them to talk about on Tuesday, at their meeting I'll miss [can't say I'll really miss another dreadful 4 hr telecon with them, however.....]

Today's plan is to pack, then to go to an engagement party for my cousin's son, then run back to catch a lift to the airport. Won't be much of a fun trip....have several other telecons I committed to tomorrow nite, so the night- life of Nice will be without me.....Am still fantasizing about the possibility of seeing you, but I know that can't happen.....it will, however, be very depressing beign at heathrow, without having to look forward to seeing you and your georgous body.....(will keep this PG just to get thru, but I think you know what I'm thinking of next.....)

Glad you're a bit less stressed from work- tho' sounds like you have new stress with REDACTED

Will call you from Heathrow when I get there 9:30 or 10A, I think, so we can REDACTED REDACTED if the stars were more aligned this week.....

amla,

Wayne

Wayne Macfadden MD
US Medical Director, Seroquel
302-886-1147
wayne.macfadden@astrazeneca.com

